

HEALTH AND SAFETY REPRESENTATIVE

STAGE 1

Gain foundation skills, knowledge, and initial support for your new role.

+ Who's at home waiting for you?

This course will help you to understand your role and responsibilities as a representative and meet minimum regulatory requirements for training. Due to Health and Safety at Work Act regulations, this course is a must for all health and safety reps.

This course has been designed for:

- + Any employee elected or appointed as a health and safety representative
- + Managers who want to fully understand the role of the representative in their workplace

We offer this as a public course, or we can run it in-house just for your staff.

Day 1 and 2: NZQA Unit Standard 29315
Credits: 2

After completing this course, you'll be able to:

- + Understand why health and safety matters
- + Identify the rights and responsibilities of health and safety stakeholders
- + Communicate in support of safety and understand the HSR powers
- + Describe when and how a HSR can stop unsafe work
- + Describe purpose of the Provisional Improvement Notice (PIN)
- + Complete a PIN and requirements for communication to all relevant parties
- + Describe a PCBU's obligations to comply with a PIN or seek regulatory review
- + Support workers with post-injury rehabilitation and return to work planning

“ For two years in a row, Colmar Brunton research found that satisfaction with IMPAC's training was much higher than any other provider's. In fact, Colmar Brunton said that IMPAC's customer satisfaction score is one of the highest they have seen in any market. ”
